

To the Families of Xwemélch'stn Etsimxwawtxw (Capilano Littlest Ones School)

With the end of spring break approaching, we understand the uncertainty and concern that may arise due to the complex nature of current global concerns. We want to reassure you that we are taking appropriate measures to support Xwemélch'stn Etsimxwawtxw students during this trying time.

Since the Ministry of Education announcement suspending all in-class instruction, Xwemélch'stn Etsimxwawtxw has been developing a Continuity of Learning Plan. Our intent is not to replicate regular classroom instruction, but to provide quality home learning opportunities during this challenging time. We want to emphasize that learning plans will differ across public schools and various independent school settings, as access to technology, geography and many other factors can be influential.

As shared by The Ministry of Education; all students will receive a final mark, and students on track move to the next grade in the fall.

Your Xwemélch'stn Etsimxwawtxw Principal and teachers are connecting, and planning to provide opportunities for learning remotely. You can expect communication from the Principal and/or classroom teacher by phone or email within the first week of April. There will be follow up to provide students and families with a general learning overview focusing on essential learning.

We recognize that this is an incredibly complex time for many families and understand that it may be challenging for students to focus on learning. While in-class learning has been suspended, Xwemélch'stn Etsimxwawtxw will continue to provide opportunities and resources to support our learners adapting to individual family circumstances.

Chen wanáxwstúmiyap

Education, Employment and Training