The First Nations Child and Family Services and Jordan's Principle Settlement has been approved. This is what this means for you.

First Nations Child and Family Services and Jordan's Principle Settlement

The Court has approved the Settlement Agreement in the First Nations Child and Family Services and Jordan's Principle Class Action. This means that Canada will pay $23.34 billion in compensation for impacted First Nations children and some of their family members.

This notice provides information about the Settlement. You can find more information and sign up for updates at www.fnchildclaims.ca or you can call 1-833-852-0755.

What's the Settlement about?

The Settlement provides compensation to First Nations children living on reserves or in the Yukon who were removed from their homes by child welfare agencies operating in First Nations communities and placed in out-of-home care between April 1, 1991 and March 31, 2022.

The Settlement also provides compensation to First Nations children who did not receive timely access to essential services and who had a confirmed need for those services between April 1, 1991 and November 2, 2017. This treatment discriminated against the children and broke a legal rule known as Jordan's Principle.

Am I included in the Settlement?

Compensation is not yet available. When it becomes available, you may be eligible for compensation if you are one or more of the following:

A child removed from their home or placed off-reserve Removed Child Class	A child who had a denial or delay of an essential service Jordan's Principle Class Trout Child Class Essential Service Class	A child placed off-reserve Kith Child Class* Kith Family Class*
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • First Nations children who, while under the age of majority between April 1, 1991 and March 31, 2022, were living on a reserve and were removed from their homes by child welfare authorities or voluntarily placed into care. • The placement was funded by Indigenous Services Canada (ISC). • At least one caregiver (parents or grandparents) were resident on reserve or living in the Yukon. 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • First Nations children (living on-reserve or off-reserve) who were confirmed to need an essential service but faced a delay, denial or a gap in receiving that essential service between April 1, 1991 and November 2, 2017. 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • First Nations children placed off-reserve with a non-family caregiver. • The caregiver did not receive any funding related to the placement. • A Child Welfare Authority was involved at the time of the placement. • Caregiving parent or grandparent of children of the Kith Child Class <small>*If you think you are in this group or their parent or grandparent, and you want to be excluded from the settlement, you can remove yourself by submitting an Opt-Out Form, by January 15, 2024. If you submit the Opt-Out Form, you will not receive compensation from the settlement.</small>
The caregiving parent or grandparent of a child who experienced removal or a delay or denial of an essential service This includes birth, adoptive and step parents. It does not include foster parents. Removed Child Family Class Jordan's Principle Family Class Trout Family Class
 A fund of $50 million will be established to assist First Nations children and families impacted by Canada's discrimination. An additional fund of $90 million will be established to benefit high-needs Jordan's Principle class members to ensure their personal dignity and well-being.

When will I receive compensation?

The first Claim Forms will be available in several months. Please visit www.fnchildclaims.ca for more information, updates and timelines, and to find out when Claim Forms will be available.

What can I do now?

Sign up for updates at www.fnchildclaims.ca. This will ensure that you receive updates on the claims process and a copy of the Claim Forms when they are available.

There are supports and resources available to help you understand the Settlement and apply for compensation when the claims process is open.

 To learn more about the Settlement and sign up for updates on the claims process, visit www.fnchildclaims.ca.	 Claims support services are available by calling the Administrator at 1-833-852-0755.	 If you are experiencing emotional distress and would like to speak with a counsellor, please contact the Hope for Wellness Helpline at 1-855-242-3310, or visit www.hopeforwellness.ca to chat.

Are you protected against Measles?

BC recently confirmed its first case of Measles since 2019. Measles is extremely contagious and is spread through the air by coughing and sneezing, and remains present in a room for several hours.

An unvaccinated person who is infected by measles can have serious complications, such as pneumonia, hearing loss, brain injury, and death. In pregnant women, measles infection can lead to miscarriage, premature labor, or a low birthweight baby.

The symptoms of measles are fever, red watery eyes, which may be sensitive to light, cough, runny nose, and a rash.

To protect yourself, your loved ones, and your community, it is important to ensure your vaccinations are up-to-date. In BC 2 doses of measles-containing vaccine is 99% effective against contracting measles. The vaccine is safe.

Please check your Immunization Records and/or contact your health care provider to ensure that you and your family are up-to-date with your immunizations.

In BC, the measles vaccine is usually given to children as a series of two doses. The first dose, known as the Measles, Mumps, and Rubella (MMR) vaccine, is given on or soon after a child's first birthday. The second dose is called the Measles, Mumps, Rubella, and Varicella (MMRV) vaccine, and is given around the time a child starts school.

Immunizations are available at our All-Ages Drop-in Immunization clinics on the 2nd Tuesday of each month from 1-3pm at Yúustway Health & Wellness. The next clinic is on March 12th, 2024

SQUAMISH NATION TRUST

Squamish Nation Trustees: Kathleen Smith, Chair; Brad Baker; Leanne Joe; Mindy Wight
Administrative Trustee: Chris Angeconeb, TD Wealth

March 25, 2024

No SNT Distribution This Year

The Squamish Nation Trust did have positive income in 2023 but the portfolio is not meeting long term obligations.

The Trustees have worked hard on changes to the investment portfolio with the intent that diversification will provide better investment returns. We will be taking the proposed changes to Council for approval, soon. The changes are reflected in the Statement of Investment Policy & Goals (SIP&G) that requires complementary resolutions.

The Trustees believe we need to:

- give the markets a chance to rebound and stabilize from the previous weak years
- preserve the positive earnings that were made
- implement the portfolio diversification.

We must focus on our obligations to the future generations and NOT make a distribution of the 2023 income this year. This does not affect the Nation's regular Distribution.

For more information, the SNT Annual Report will be delivered to your door this month. Additionally, we are hosting in person AGM's, March 26 at Chief Joe Mathias Centre and March 25 at Totem Hall.

If you have further questions, contact Christopher Arnold at 604-659-7437 or email the Trustees at info@sntrust.ca

Sincerely,

CALL FOR LOCAL INDIGENOUS AND URBAN INDIGENOUS ARTISTS AND GRAPHIC DESIGNERS

BACKGROUND

TransLink acknowledges, respects, and celebrates the Indigenous Nations on whose treaty and unceded territories we are fortunate to live, work, and operate. We recognize that in planning and managing the region's transportation system we have a role to play in supporting reconciliation with Indigenous Peoples. The meaning of reconciliation, and its application in our work, will grow and evolve over time. There is significant work still to be done to advance inclusivity and collaboration with Indigenous Peoples.

TransLink is working to support Indigenous cultural recognition and language revitalization through public art, graphic design, and cultural recognition projects featured within the transportation network, TransLink's website and corporate documents.

OPPORTUNITY

TransLink is seeking an Indigenous artist or graphic designer to develop an original artwork that will be applied to a shirt for National Truth and Reconciliation Day, also known as Orange Shirt Day. The same artwork will also be modified and added to, by the artist into a more comprehensive design that will wrap a transit vehicle(s). The shirt will be made available for sale on the TransLink Store to the general public as well as TransLink employees. Proceeds of the sale of shirts will support local Indigenous communities by means of donation. The art wrapped vehicle will be launched for the National Day of Truth and Reconciliation on September 30, 2024.

We are seeking one artist or graphic designer from a local Indigenous Nation – q'ícá y (Katzie First Nation), q'wá:í X'ən (Kwantlen First Nation), k'ík'w'ələmí (Kwikwetlem First Nation), máthxwi (Matsqui First Nation), x'məθk'əyəm (Musqueam Indian Band), qiqéyt (Qayqayt First Nation), se'mya'me (Semiahmoo First Nation), Skwxwú7mesh Úxwumixw (Squamish Nation), scá wəθən məsteyəx' (Tsawwassen First Nation), səlilwətał (Tsleil-Waututh Nation) and urban Indigenous artists or graphic designers living within the TransLink service area.
